

Serious Train Wreck Narrowly Averted By Old Soldier

Comrade William C. Robbins Being Hailed as Hero for His Prompt Action in Averting Wreck

ALEX WALLACE HAS NARROW ESCAPE

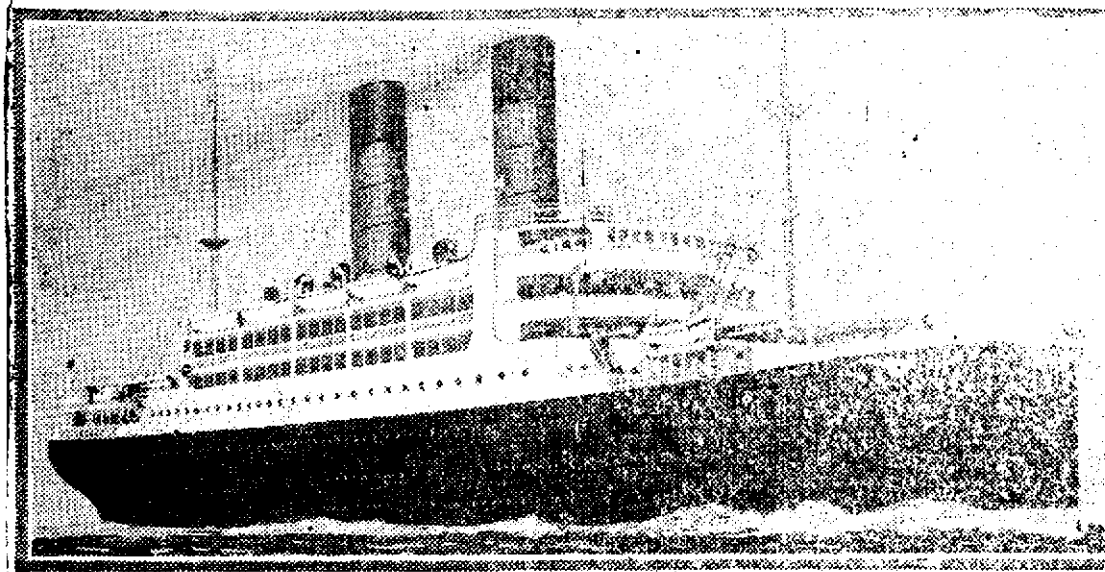

Comrade William C. Robbins is being hailed as a hero today by the people living near the Moose Creek crossing of the B. R. & P. railroad at the foot of Duckett's hill, because only his prompt action and presence of mind averted a train wreck at this point.

Last evening about 9 o'clock Comrade Robbins heard a commotion on the railroad track near his home and taking his lantern went out to make an investigation. When he arrived at the crossing he discovered a most serious state of affairs. Alex Wallace, who lives out in the township near the Joseph Shaw Mill, was in town yesterday afternoon and got so heavily charged with "tanglefoot" that he crossed his sense of direction was suddenly twisted that instead of starting up the hill road he swung his team of mules straight up the track. When the team struck the bridge across Moose Creek one of the mules slipped between the ties and went down on the track and was unable to get up. The racket made by the mules attracted the attention of Comrade Robbins. When he arrived on the scene he found the mule down and Alex soundly asleep in the wagon. About this time a New York Central freight train rattled across the bridge a few hundred yards below. Realizing the imminence of a serious accident Mr. Robbins walked down the track swinging his lantern and succeeded in stopping the train at the crossing. The train crew was apprised of the situation and after waking the sleeping driver succeeded finally in freeing the mule and getting the outfit off the track but it took the combined efforts of six men for more than an hour to liberate the poor animal.

The train crew was loud in their praises of the prompt action of Comrade Robbins saying that had he not acted as he did and the train had run onto the team the engine would have undoubtedly been thrown from the track and a serious accident would have been the result.

PASALVO TAKEN BY GERMANS IN BITTER FIGHT

Berlin Claims Capture of This Place is of Greater Importance Than Constanza

RUSS FIGHTING STUBBORNLY

London, Oct. 25.—(By United Press)—Abandonment of Russo-Rumanian positions at Cernavoda and the surrender of Passalvo to the enemy were officially reported at Petrograd this afternoon. The Russo-Rumanians are retreating north fighting stubbornly. Official Berlin dispatches said that strategically the capture of Passalvo was more important than the taking of Constanza. Advances laid stress on the heavy losses of the Rumanians and that the Slavs had lost one and three quarter million in fighting since June 1.

The Allies are making every possible effort to help Rumania, David Lloyd George declared today in the House of Commons.

MEXICAN OFFICE SAYS CARRANZA WILL NOT QUIT

Brand Report That First Chief Will Flee From Mexico as Invention of Villistas

HIS FORCES LOSING CONTROL

Washington, Oct. 25.—(By United Press)—The Mexican embassy today branded as a pure invention the report that General Carranza is resigning as President of the defacto government in Mexico and is leaving the country.

Washington, Oct. 25.—(By United Press)—Border reports of the serious Villista uprising in Chihuahua City and neighboring states were confirmed by an official report from General Funston. It was the first report from Mexico mentioning that the defacto troops were marching north to Parral to fight the Villistas. Other advices from El Paso declare that Chihuahua City is in a state of panic. Villista troops are north and west of the northern Mexican capital and that five miles from the outskirts heavy Villista artillery is entrenched. Residents of Chihuahua are panic stricken in fear of another raid. A great many skirmishes are taking place between small detachments of bandits and Carranza troops and the evacuation of Chihuahua City by General Trevino's troops is expected any moment. They are short of ammunition, the report declared. There is no little doubt in the minds of military men that the defacto forces have lost control of the situation.

"Nothing definite regarding the recent skirmish at San Ysabel is known," read a war announcement in connection with the Funston dispatch.

El Paso, Oct. 25.—The main body of Villista's army is voluntarily retiring today in the direction of San Isidro west of Chihuahua City pursued by Carranza troops according to reports made to United States authorities by refugees arriving here today.

Railroad Officials Met Here Today to Talk Improvements

Meeting Attended by Prominent Officials of the Three Roads Entering Clearfield

TYRONE AND DUBOIS MEN WERE PRESENT

Representatives of the three railroads entering Clearfield met here today and discussed matters of great moment to Clearfield, along the lines exclusively published in The Progress during the past two or three weeks.

The Pennsylvania was represented by Division Superintendent J. K. Johnson, T. P. Dolan and H. M. Sausser, of Tyrone, D. E. Brown, of Cresson, T. M. McKinley of Dubois and Messrs. James F. Fletcher and George L. McCullough, of Clearfield. The New York Central representatives were E. P. Woolever and C. R. Bingham, of Corning, N. Y.; and Howard Scott, of Jersey Shore. Chief Clerk Nichols, F. E. Claussen and several other officials represented the B. R. & P.

Among the matters under discussion were the proposed new New York Central station and the possibility of a union station at that point, and the baggage arrangements necessary for the putting on of the new train over the B. R. & P. to connect with the 1:15 Pennsylvania train.

Many details concerning both positions were talked over, but nothing definite was done at this time and consequently nothing was to be given out for publication. We keep your eye on the Progress, we will keep you posted on all the daily happenings and everything concerning the welfare of Clearfield, past, present and future.

RAILWAY STRIKE IN CANADA

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—(By United Press)—Premier Borden's appeal to the Canadian Pacific railroad company and its employees failed to prevent the strike scheduled for today. Dramatic government action is forecasted. There is a government act giving it power to operate the railways pending the settlement of differences between employers and employees. Optimism, however, is prevailing in Winnipeg according to a dispatch received here this morning.

New Papa Busy Buying Cigars for Friends

Acts Just the Same as Rest of us Did on the Same Occasion

Smiles and more smiles. Laughs and hearty ones at that. The cup of joy runneth over at the Electric Supply company office on Market street. The boys are all calling the boss "papa". He likes it too. Don't get a bit sore and wants to buy a cigar for all comers. Can't keep his mind on his work, is irresponsible and entirely unaccountable for his actions. Wants to talk to everybody and if you won't talk he talks anyway. In fact he has been bothering everybody along the street for two days.

It's a girl, weighs about nine pounds and cries, yes by golly, really cries with her eyes and her mouth. She came night before last and Bill says she is as fat as butter. Her coming was the occasion for Bill to blow for three gallons of ice cream for the nurses at the Hospital and the supply of soft drinks and cigars in town is almost exhausted.

Grandpa Wrigley is in Kentucky looking after his interests there and judging from the telegram received from him this morning he is just about as happy as Bill.

Hardware Delivery Team Runs Away

Scare at 8:20 A. M. Train and Cover Several Squares

William F. Powell's delivery team frightened at the 8:20 P. R. R. train near the station this morning and making a quick turn threw the driver from the wagon and beat it up Third street at a 2:40 gait. An attempt was made to stop them in front of Norris' Meat market but the ponies left the paved street and continued their mad flight up the railroad track and ran two squares further on before being stopped. They were cut and skinned up slightly, but otherwise little damage was done, although several collisions were narrowly averted on their way up the narrow street.

Explosion Alarms Subway Travelers

Supposed to Have Been Timed Bomb Which Missed Going Off

New York, Oct. 25.—(By United Press)—An explosion which Inspector Egan of the Bureau of Comustibles declared today was caused by dynamite seriously damaged the interior of a subway station at Lexington Avenue and 110th street today. The explosion occurred about to minutes after a train had passed. There is nothing to show that the bomb was planted unless it was destroyed itself. It may have been a time bomb and missed going off at the right time. The company is instituting a rigid investigation.

Auto Supply Company Install New Machine With Many Functions

Will Repair Anything From an Automobile Tire to a Rubber Boot or Fireman's Coat

The Clearfield Auto Supply company on Third street have added to their automobile tire vulcanizing outfit a machine which is already filling a long felt need in this community. The new machine is called a rubber boot and shoe vulcanizer and no longer will it be necessary to discard those new rubber boots the instant an unfortunate accident results in a snag to one of them. A damaged boot or shoe can be made as good as new with this new machine in a few minutes and the patch is vulcanized into the rubber in such a manner as to make it a part of the boot and the repaired boot as good as new. In addition to this expert patching new half soles and heels can be attached in like manner and your rubber boots and shoes that formerly lasted one season can be successfully repaired and made to last longer than leather ones.

It is also possible to repair rubber coats and almost any other kind of rubber goods. Drop in and look the new machine over, and see the finished work it turns out.

"Lady Luxury" Pleased Devotees Musical Comedy Last Night

Players Greeted With Applause With Every Change of Scene and Setting

Followers of musical comedy in Clearfield are many. Large crowds greet almost every company that plays here. Clearfield theatre goers are quick to respond to a good show and had their chance last night when "Lady Luxury" was presented at the Opera House for the first time. The show was pleasing in every respect. The acting was good and the singing was above the average for touring companies. Every part was well played and the chorus surpassed any that has appeared here this season.

The antics of the gentlemen of the old school in planning the marriage of his niece to the Westerner were particularly enjoyable and brought out many humorous situations. The Westerner too was a pleasing gentleman who made a host of friends among the audience. It would not be fair not to mention the singing of the Count. He had a rich tenor voice that was truly of the Grand Opera style. We believe we can safely say that "Lady Luxury" pleased all and that it is the best show that has hit Clearfield this season.

CURWENSVILLE NEWS

George Phillips, foreman at the P. H. L. tannery is numbered among those who are confined to their homes by illness.

Members of the Catholic church will hold a cake walk in the basement of their church Saturday evening. Everybody is cordially invited.

Oscar Bilger of DuBois called on friends in town yesterday and received congratulations upon the arrival of a new son, which came to his home last Sunday.

Readers of the Progress are asked to bear in mind that the Baptist folks will hold a Halloween socials in the basement of their church, at which all will be made welcome.

Some excitement was created last evening when a pheasant in wild flight struck one of the large street windows of the Robinson store. It fell to the sidewalk, scrambled up and ran down through the King yard.

The members of the hunting colony have returned to their homes from their weeks outing at Bear Run camp. A more ruddy hue was noticeable on the countenances of all who spent the time in the mountains and in the pure, crisp air.

Already Christmas programs are being studied and being put in shape by the pupils connected with the different Sabbath Schools of town. The productions will be a little more elaborate than last year, and of a more interesting character.

George Bowman, who resides on Irvin Hill, received word yesterday morning to the effect that his son had met with an accident while at work in the coal mines at Faunce, by which one of his hips was badly crushed. The injured man was taken to the Clearfield hospital.

Dock Smith showed the Progress man last evening a bunch of Mexican curios sent to him by his son who is a member of Troop L, First U. S. cavalry. Among them was a lot of paper money and silver coins, valued, according to Mexican calculation from one cent to fifty.

Now that cold weather is approaching it would be well for the members of the Junior debating society of the South Side to line up and get in shape for their annual winter's entertainment. Some weighty and tangled questions were wrestled with by this club last winter and oratory was not wanting.

According to a statement made last evening by a miner at the hard clay mines yesterday was the banner day for the output. One hundred and sixty cars were put out each car bearing an average 3,500 pounds of clay. This is the largest number of cars that has ever been put out in a single day from these mines.

Chief Clark returned yesterday from his Pittsburgh trip. He was down here in search of a negro who is wanted at Mt Union for murder. The same fellow was in Curwensville several weeks ago and was sheltered and fed by one of his own color, and when the chief went to get him he had departed.

A strange light on the chimney or roof of the Arnold homestead last evening created considerable comment as to what it was and from whence it came. It would flash out brightly for a short time and all at once disappear. Quite a crowd of people watched it for a while but arrived at no definite conclusion as to its cause.

Every day brings to mind more clearly the fact that Curwensville needs more tenement houses for rental purposes. There are a number of men working in the industries here who would become citizens of the town if it were possible for them to get houses for their families to reside. It is not pleasant for a man to work here and have his family somewhere else, as it almost doubles his expenses. Every day someone is heard to ask the question, "Do you know where I can get a house?" There is no doubt but what people want to come here to live, as that fact is demonstrated by every available place being filled up. As fast as a new house is completed there are twenty applications for it. Many people have erected dwelling houses on the rear end of their lots, yet that does not fill the demand. It is a safe bet that if there were forty empty houses in the town today every one could be rented within sixty hours, or maybe less time. There is plenty of money in this town and houses could be built if an interest was once awakened along this line of enterprise.

BASEBALL

Four no-hit no-run games were pitched in the big leagues—three in the American and one in the National. The pitchers who performed these brilliant feats were Leonard of the Red Sox, against St. Louis; Foster of the Red Sox, against Washington; Bush of the Athletics, against Cleveland, and Hughes of the Braves, against Pittsburgh.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, the great pitcher of the Phillies, set up a new "whitewash" record by pitching 16 shutout games. The old mark was 133, held by Mathewson.

Zach Wheat, of the Brooklyn Robins, made one or more safe hits in 29 consecutive games. In the 29 games he poked a total of 45 safeties.

The New York Giants won 26 consecutive games and in doing so shattered the long-standing record of 20 straight made by Providence in 1884.

In losing 20 straight games the Athletics tied the American league record for consecutive defeats. The Muckmen also hung up a new mark for defeats in one season with 117 games in the lost column, against 113 registered by Washington in 1904.

Jimmy Walsh and Meldon Wyckoff, traded by the Athletics to the Red Sox, were the only pastimers to leap from a tail-end outfit to the world's champions.

The "iron man" stunt or pitching and winning two games in one afternoon, was performed by four big league twirlers. They were Davenport, of the Browns, pitching against the Yankees; Perritt, of the Giants, against the Phillies; Alexander, of the Phillies, against Cincinnati and Demaree, of the Phillies, pitching against the Pirates.

Outfielder Eddie Mensor, the former Pirate, playing this year with the Spokane Northwestern league team, took part in 114 games and handled 239 chances without an error.

Kenzie Kirkman, outfielder of the St. Joseph team of the Western league made 32 hits in 39 times at bat. Ty Cobb, in 1913, set a record of 31 hits in 39 times up.

The St. Louis Browns won 14 games in a row, the best performance in the American league this season for consecutive games won.

One of the "big thrillers" of the season was staged in Boston August 17, when the White Sox took the club at the hands of the Red Sox 5 to 4 in 16 innings.

Every club in the American league, with the exception of the Athletics led the race for at least one day. Cleveland, New York, Boston and Washington were up there most of the time, while the others enjoyed the privilege for shorter periods including ties.

Walter Pipp, first baseman of the New York Yankees, poled out eleven home runs during the season.

After leading the American league batsmen for nine years in succession Ty Cobb lost the batting championship to Tris Speaker.

On Aug. 14 the Waco and Galveston teams of the Texas league battled for 20 innings, Waco putting over three runs in the twentieth and landing the game by a score of 4 to 1.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter the acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, searing sensation or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is non-toxic, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys, and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

Richest Young Woman of Smart Set of Washington Marries

Margaret Peeston Draper Now Bride of Prince Andrea Boncompagni of Italy

Washington, Oct. 25.—Miss Margaret Peeston Draper, known as the richest young woman in Washington society, is now the bride of Prince Andrea Boncompagni, scion of one of Italy's oldest and most distinguished families. The marriage which links another great American fortune to an old-world title was performed in the home of the bride's mother at noon today in the presence of a notable gathering of foreign diplomats, cabinet ministers, representatives of the exclusive Supreme Court circle, high officials of the Army and Navy members of Congress and the cream of Washington society.

Crowds began to gather in front of the Draper mansion in K street at an early hour, and the services of a number of priests were brought into requisition to keep the sidewalks and the roadway clear. Up to 11 o'clock there was nothing to reward the patience of the crowd which by this time lined the opposite sidewalk and a portion of the roadway for an entire block on either side of the Draper residence.

One of the first arrivals was Cardinal Gibbons who was accompanied by two priests and a lay brother. Then in rapid succession rode up the handsome equipages and motor cars with the invited guests. These were mostly close personal friends of the bride and family, who are among the foremost leaders of society in the capital. The members of the foreign diplomatic corps were numerous but the official representatives of the countries with which Italy is at war were not noticeable by the irascible.

At a quarter of 12 the guests assembled in the great tapestried ballroom of the Draper mansion. There were probably two hundred guests in all. The improvised altar, which had been erected at one end of the ballroom in white and gold, the scores of tall lighted candles in golden stands reflecting with gorgeous effect upon the golden embroidery. On and about the altar were tall golden stands filled with clusters of flowers. The mantle pieces and recesses of the great hall were also banked with bridal roses and other blossoms in bewildering confusion.

Promptly on the stroke of 12 Cardinal Gibbons and his priest entered the ballroom and took up their positions on the right and left of the altar. A moment later a string orchestra stationed at the opposite end of the room burst forth in a soft sweet melody, and the bridal party were heard ascending the stairs.

The bride entered the room on the arm of William King Richardson of Boston, her trustee. Next came the mother of the bride, escorted by Count Macchi di Cellere, the Italian ambassador. The bride and groom

"MAID TO ORDER"

The beach scene in the Comedy-Musical production "Maid to Order" which comes to the Opera House on Monday evening is said to be one of the most natural pictures of the sands and the ocean ever put upon the stage. It is in this scene that Miss Dorothy Douglas the vivacious Prima Donna is featured with the production, wears what is said to be the best word in fashionable bathing costumes. The entire scenery for "Maid to Order" was painted by Dodge and Castle who are among the leading scenic artists of New York, and it is said that nothing better has ever come from their studio. From what we are led to believe "Maid to Order" as a stage production is one of the very best that has ever left New York City and that the fun and enthusiasm of the comedy and the music has not been equalled for a long, long time. Seats on sale Friday.

ON THE SCREEN

BELOVED VAGABOND

When Gaston De Nerac was awarded the highest honor the French Academy can bestow on an architect he returned to England, there to arrange the details of his marriage to his cousin, Joanna Rushworth.

To save Joanna's father from financial ruin, Gaston borrows a sum of money from another of Joanna's admirers, the stipulation being that he shall not communicate in any way with Joanna for two years. The scheming lender leads Joanna to believe that her love has been bartered for dollars.

She marries him, and Gaston, believing the one perfect creature in the world to have been fickle, gives up everything he holds dearest—art, friends and future—and, assuming the name of Paragot, goes forth into the world a cynic, to bury with the past all his hopes for the future.

Follows a period of abstinence and recklessness, until he meets Augustus Smith, a lad of fifteen, to whom he takes a liking, because, forsooth, the boy reads "Paradise Lost" and together they start on a vagabond wandering in which many strange things come to pass.

He meets Joanna once more. But years have separated these two, and they find, after their formal engagement, that it's no go. Paragot goes forth broken hearted, only to realize, when he gets home, a certain something that startled him—for he finds in a cottage that which he lost in a mansion.

"CASEY" IN THE MOVIES

Along about the time that Nat Goodwin was married, for the first time and Roosevelt was in the legislature, and Tweed was in jail, along about that time De Wolf Hopper began reciting the touching, beautiful poem, "Casey at the Bat."

According to the records, Hopper has repeated the thrilling lines no less than 2000 times and responded to 11,000 encores. He has recited "Casey at the Bat," and sung it and now he appears in it as a screen play called "Casey at the Bat."

As a movie, "Casey" is full of romance, three baggers, conspiracy, slides to second, love, catches mits, betting, pitcher's signals and overalls. As the world knows and for years has deeply regretted, Casey goes to bat at the crucial period of the final game to save the day and the game and everything else, and strikes out Hooper as Casey does it too in the film. This incident possibly the saddest scene ever portrayed in motion pictures, shows the crushed and defeated Casey after striking out leaving Mudville forever. The picture will be shown at the Opera House on Friday evening.

An auto chemical truck will save its cost in many a single fire when the elimination of the water drainage is taken into consideration.

Serious Train Wreck Narrowly Averted By Old Soldier

ALEX WALLACE HAS NARROW ESCAPE

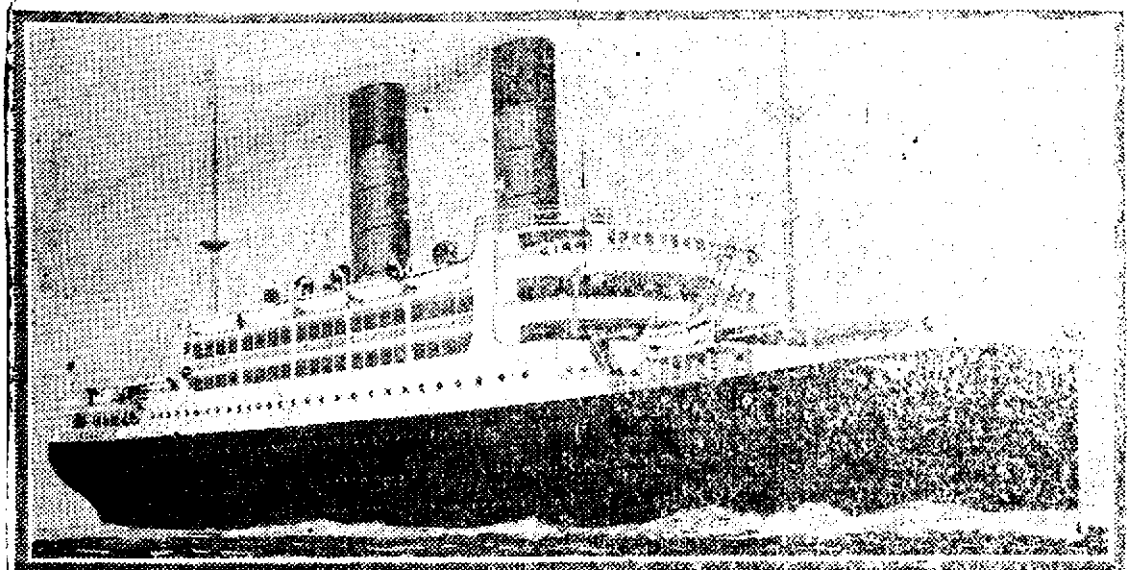

Comrade William C. Robbins is being hailed as a hero today by the people living near the Moose Creek crossing of the B. R. & P. railroad at the foot of Duckett's hill, because only his prompt action and presence of mind averted a train wreck at this point.

Last evening about 9 o'clock Comrade Robbins heard a commotion on the railroad track near his home and taking his lantern went out to make an investigation. When he arrived at the crossing he discovered a most serious state of affairs. Alex Wallace, who lives out in the township near the Joseph Shaw Mill, was in town yesterday afternoon and got so heavily charged with "tanglefoot" that he crossed his sense of direction was suddenly twisted that instead of starting up the hill road he swung his team of mules straight up the track. When the team struck the bridge across Moose Creek one of the mules slipped between the ties and went down on the track and was unable to get up. The racket made by the mules attracted the attention of Comrade Robbins. When he arrived on the scene he found the mule down and Alex soundly asleep in the wagon. About this time a New York Central freight train rattled across the bridge a few hundred yards below. Realizing the imminence of a serious accident Mr. Robbins walked down the track swinging his lantern and succeeded in stopping the train at the crossing. The train crew was apprised of the situation and after waking the sleeping driver succeeded finally in freeing the mule and getting the outfit off the track but it took the combined efforts of six men for more than an hour to liberate the poor animal.

The train crew was loud in their praises of the prompt action of Comrade Robbins saying that had he not acted as he did and the train had run onto the team the engine would have undoubtedly been thrown from the track and a serious accident would have been the result.

PASALVO TAKEN BY GERMANS IN BITTER FIGHT

RUSS FIGHTING STUBBORNLY

London, Oct. 25.—(By United Press)—Abandonment of Russo-Rumanian positions at Cernavoda and the surrender of Passalvo to the enemy were officially reported at Petrograd this afternoon. The Russo-Rumanians are retreating north fighting stubbornly. Official Berlin dispatches said that strategically the capture of Passalvo was more important than the taking of Constanza. Advances laid stress on the heavy losses of the Rumanians and that the Slavs had lost one and three quarter million in fighting since June 1.

The Allies are making every possible effort to help Rumania, David Lloyd George declared today in the House of Commons.

MEXICAN OFFICE SAYS CARRANZA WILL NOT QUIT

Brand Report That First Chief Will Flee From Mexico as Invention of Villistas

HIS FORCES LOSING CONTROL

Washington, Oct. 25.—(By United Press)—The Mexican embassy today branded as a pure invention the report that General Carranza is resigning as President of the defacto government in Mexico and is leaving the country.

Washington, Oct. 25.—(By United Press)—Border reports of the serious Villista uprising in Chihuahua City and neighboring states were confirmed by an official report from General Funston. It was the first report from Mexico mentioning that the defacto troops were marching north to Parral to fight the Villistas. Other advices from El Paso declare that Chihuahua City is in a state of panic. Villista troops are north and west of the northern Mexican capital and that five miles from the outskirts heavy Villista artillery is entrenched. Residents of Chihuahua are panic stricken in fear of another raid. A great many skirmishes are taking place between small detachments of bandits and Carranza troops and the evacuation of Chihuahua City by General Trevino's troops is expected any moment. They are short of ammunition, the report declared. There is no little doubt in the minds of military men that the defacto forces have lost control of the situation.

"Nothing definite regarding the recent skirmish at San Ysabel is known," read a war announcement in connection with the Funston dispatch.

El Paso, Oct. 25.—The main body of Villista's army is voluntarily retiring today in the direction of San Isidro west of Chihuahua City pursued by Carranza troops according to reports made to United States authorities by refugees arriving here today.

Many details concerning both positions were talked over, but nothing definite was done at this time and consequently nothing was to be given out for publication. We keep your eye on the Progress, we will keep you posted on all the daily happenings and everything concerning the welfare of Clearfield, past, present and future.

Birthday Party For Miss Ruth Cross

Thirteen Thirteen Year Olds Celebrated Thirteen Year Old

Miss Ruth Cross celebrated her 13th birthday very pleasantly at her home on Third street last evening. Thirteen of her classmates in the Sixth grade at the Market street school were invited to participate in the festivities. The celebration was in the nature of a masquerade, all the guests coming masked, the costumes being quite unique and very pretty.

The evening was pleasantly spent, music and games being the order of the day, after which delicious refreshments were served and greatly enjoyed by the young folks. Miss Ruth was the recipient of many pretty remembrances of the occasion and all present enjoyed themselves to the limit.

Inquiring friends were told at the Ansonia hotel, where Mr. and Mrs. Ziegfeld have apartments, that both mother and baby are well and hearty.

"Lady Luxury" Pleased Devotees Musical Comedy Last Night

Players Greeted With Applause With Every Change of Scene and Setting

Followers of musical comedy in Clearfield are many. Large crowds greet almost every company that plays here. Clearfield theatre goers are quick to respond to a good show and had their chance last night when "Lady Luxury" was presented at the Opera House for the first time. The show was pleasing in every respect. The acting was good and the singing was above the average for touring companies. Every part was well played and the chorus surpassed any that has appeared here this season. The antics of the gentlemen of the old school in planning the marriage of his niece to the Westerner were particularly enjoyable and brought out many humorous situations. The Westerner too was a pleasing gentleman who made a host of friends among the audience. It would not be fair not to mention the singing of the Count. He had a rich tenor voice that was truly of the Grand Opera style. We believe we can safely say that "Lady Luxury" pleased all and that it is the best show that has hit Clearfield this season.

New Papa Busy Buying Cigars for Friends

Acts Just the Same as Rest of us Did on the Same Occasion

Smiles and more smiles. Laughs and hearty ones at that. The cup of joy runneth over at the Electric Supply company office on Market street. The boys are all calling the boss "papa". He likes it too. Don't get a bit sore and wants to buy a cigar for all comers. Can't keep his mind on his work, is irresponsible and entirely unaccountable for his actions. Wants to talk to everybody and if you won't talk he talks anyway. In fact he has been bothering everybody along the street for two days.

It's a girl, weighs about nine pounds and cries, yes by golly, really cries with her eyes and her mouth. She came night before last and Bill says she is as fat as butter. Her coming was the occasion for Bill to blow for three gallons of ice cream for the nurses at the Hospital and the supply of soft drinks and cigars in town is almost exhausted.

Grandpa Wrigley is in Kentucky looking after his interests there and judging from the telegram received from him this morning he is just about as happy as Bill.

Hardware Delivery Team Runs Away

Scare at 8:20 A. M. Train and Cover Several Squares

William F. Powell's delivery team frightened at the 8:20 P. R. R. train near the station this morning and making a quick turn threw the driver from the wagon and beat it up Third street at a 2:40 gait. An attempt was made to stop them in front of Norris' Meat market but the ponies left the paved street and continued their mad flight up the railroad track and ran two squares further on before being stopped. They were cut and skinned up slightly, but otherwise little damage was done, although several collisions were narrowly averted on their way up the narrow street.

Explosion Alarms Subway Travelers

Supposed to Have Been Timed Bomb Which Missed Going Off

New York, Oct. 25.—(By United Press)—An explosion which Inspector Egan of the Bureau of Combustibles declared today was caused by dynamite seriously damaged the interior of a subway station at Lexington Avenue and 110th street today. The explosion occurred about to minutes after a train had passed. There is nothing to show that the bomb was planted unless it was destroyed itself. It may have been a time bomb and missed going off at the right time. The company is instituting a rigid investigation.

THAT HALLOWEEN PARADE.

How about it. By all means have it. At least let the kids have it. Simply turn over the streets to them for a genuine good time. Let them yell and shout all they like. Have it understood that they are rulers provided no property is damaged.

EXTRAVAGANT CLAIMS.

Just why the Democratic campaign managers persist in making so many extravagant claims in their forecasts for November 4th is beyond explanation. Of course, it must be conceded that the Democrats have a great deal in their favor. In the first place, for the first time in years, they have the patronage that accrues from office holding. Every man holding a Federal Office, from a fourth class postmaster to Secretary of the Federal Treasury is wielding the mace and doing it effectively. Then it must be conceded that those classes that have been favored in legislation at the last minute of Congress will no doubt give Wilson a majority among themselves. Then there will be a few who will believe that "he kept us out of war" not thinking of the fact that we have not had and do not now have a definite submarine policy and that we will have more than one other wordy battle with Germany and perhaps with the allies before another year rolls by. Some will think that all is over with Mexico since we hear no more border raids and killing of Americans forgetting that the only reason we do not hear of them now is because a political commission of our agents and those of Carranza are meeting in Atlantic City at a cost of $6,000 per week trying their hardest to keep the lid on Mexican troubles for three more weeks or until after election. Bear in mind that they have been in session for six weeks already and you have heard of nothing being accomplished. Remember the words of Barnum.

FOUR YEARS AGO.

It was The New Freedom, Grape Juice, One Term Only for Me, A United Democratic Party and a Disrupted, Disjointed and Skeleton of a Republican Party that elected Wilson.

TODAY

It is "Tut Tut," "He kept us out of war" (where Lincoln and McKinley failed) (and where he permitted other nations to do anything they wished without holding them to strict accountability as he told them he would). A charter of money for workmen's rights and privileges. Indecision in Mexican affairs, and a Reunited, Solidly organized, enthusiastic Republican Party that will defeat Wilson.

PERSEVERANCE THAT WILL CONQUER

It is so very easy to tell other people to try again, but hard and doubly hard to apply the advice to ourselves.

Not long ago it was my good fortune to spend a few days at the little home of my friend Ethel. As I told you before, Ethel is happily married to a man of a moderate income and is blessed with a little baby. I have also told you that she is altogether wonderful. And she is.

This day as we were sitting on her sunny porch in the comfortable vicker chairs with the baby cooing in the carriage, Ethel was weaving a waste-basket out of a peculiar sort of straw which she intended for her living room. She had watched a demonstrator do it in one of the shops the day before, when I had stayed home and cared for Baby, and she had decided to try her hand at it.

It proved more difficult than she had supposed, and since she had no directions it proved a most complicated matter to start the weave. Once this was accomplished she knew it would be clear sailing.

As we sat chatting I looked up from my embroidery every now and then to watch her ravel her efforts and try once again. This went on for the best part of an hour. One time when I raised my eyes they met hers and with a flash of determination she exclaimed, "I'm going to get this right Anita, if it takes all night."

"If that's the way you feel about it, you will," I answered.

Again she started and failed; but the next time the weave caught, and she began to fashion the article steadily.

As our conversation drifted we touched upon the motion pictures, and she exclaimed "Anita dear, I think you deserve a great deal of credit for the success you have scored. You surely did keep up your efforts and you never became discouraged—no matter how dark things looked. I wish I had that perseverance."

I smiled to myself—Ethel wishing for perseverance! Why, she is full of it. But her absolute lack of conceit is her charm. So I remained silent. Perseverance in little things is just as commendable as it is in big undertakings. Ethel deserved every bit as much credit for persevering with the basket as I did with my career. In fact the more credit was due her, for my goal was glittering while hers was not.

Have you perseverance, friends? If not, the privilege of cultivating it is yours!

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores. Known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

OPENED TO HOMESTEAD ENTRY

Have Mont., Oct. 25—The district land office here was opened this morning for the filing of applications for homestead tracts embraced in the abandoned Fort Assiniboine military reservation, which has been thrown open to homestead entry by proclamation of the President. The reservation is located in Hill county and was one of the largest military reservations in the United States. There are more than 95,000 acres to be opened, of which some 90,000 acres are classified as agricultural land and the remainder as coal lands. In the case of coal lands only the surface rights are to be disposed of. November 15 will be the last day for filing applications and the drawing will take place here three days later.

Kimson of Burlington. Subjects for discussion during the convention session included waterway transportation, changes in freight rates to the Pacific Coast, the necessity of providing for improved terminals and the encouragement of more liberal navigation of the river lines by local merchants.

DR. JOHN B. MURPHY CONDEMNNS WHISKEY AS A MEDICINE

Dr. John B. Murphy, the surgeon of international fame who died a few weeks ago in Chicago, had discarded alcohol in his practice for many years. His example with reference to the use of this poison must have weight with the medical profession.

Dr. Murphy had achieved honors few men can even hope for. He was one of the few Catholic laymen to be significantly recognized by the present Pope because of his loyalty to the church and because of his great service to society. A few months ago at the formal opening of the new buildings of the Mercy Hospital, Chicago, the ruling Pontiff, Benedict XV, through Archbishop Mundelein, made him Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great.

In a letter to Mr. Henry Stauffer, superintendent of the Fox River Valley Efficiency League, Appleton, under date of June 23, 1916, Dr. Murphy gave permission to use a quotation from his letter to Dr. Dornand setting forth his position on the subject of the use of alcohol in medicine. He also congratulated Mr. Stauffer on the work he was doing in educating the public to the evils of this poisonous drug, alcohol. The letter of Dr. Murphy and Dr. Durnand, of Waukegan, Wis., contains the following statement:

In reply to your letter of the 21st I would say what I do not consider spiritual liquor at all necessary in the treatment of disease. I have not colored a dose of whiskey as a stimulant for a patient for 15 years.

The report of a committee appointed to consider the matter will recommend that the farm mortgage bankers form joint stock banks and operate on a joint and several basis.

CURWENSVILLE NEWS

George Phillips, foreman at the P. H. L. tannery is numbered among those who are confined to their homes by illness.

Members of the Catholic church will hold a cake walk in the basement of their church Saturday evening. Everybody is cordially invited.

Oscar Bilger of DuBois called on friends in town yesterday and received congratulations upon the arrival of a new son, which came to his home last Sunday.

Readers of the Progress are asked to bear in mind that the Baptist folks will hold a Halloween social in the basement of their church, at which all will be made welcome.

Some excitement was created last evening when a pheasant in wild flight struck one of the large street windows of the Robinson store. It fell to the sidewalk, scrambled up and ran down through the King yard.

The members of the hunting colony have returned to their homes from their weeks outing at Bear Run camp. A more ruddy hue was noticeable on the countenances of all who spent the time in the mountains and in the pure, crisp air.

Already Christmas programs are being studied and being put in shape by the pupils connected with the different Sabbath Schools of town. The productions will be a little more elaborate than last year, and of a more interesting character.

George Bowman, who resides on Irvin Hill, received word yesterday morning to the effect that his son had met with an accident while at work in the coal mines at Faunce, by which one of his hips was badly crushed. The injured man was taken to the Clearfield hospital.

Dock Smith showed the Progress man last evening a bunch of Mexican curios sent to him by his son who is a member of Troop L, First U. S. cavalry. Among them was a lot of paper money and silver coins, valued, according to Mexican calculation from one cent to fifty.

Now that cold weather is approaching it would be well for the members of the Junior debating society of the South Side to line up and get in shape for their annual winter's entertainment. Some weighty and tangled questions were wrestled with by this club last winter and oratory was not wanting.

According to a statement made last evening by a miner at the hard clay mines yesterday was the banner day for the output. One hundred and sixty cars were put out each car bearing an average 3,500 pounds of clay. This is the largest number of cars that has ever been put out in a single day from these mines.

Chief Clark returned yesterday from his Pittsburgh trip. He was down here in search of a negro who is wanted at Mt Union for murder. The same fellow was in Curwensville several weeks ago and was sheltered and fed by one of his own color, and when the chief went to get him he had departed.

A strange light on the chimney or roof of the Arnold homestead last evening created considerable comment as to what it was and from whence it came. It would flash out brightly for a short time and all at once disappear. Quite a crowd of people watched it for a while but arrived at no definite conclusion as to its cause.

Every day brings to mind more clearly the fact that Curwensville needs more tenement houses for rental purposes. There are a number of men working in the industries here who would become citizens of the town if it were possible for them to get houses for their families to reside. It is not pleasant for a man to work here and have his family somewhere else, as it almost doubles his expenses. Every day someone is heard to ask the question, "Do you know where I can get a house?" There is no doubt but what people want to come here to live, as that fact is demonstrated by every available place being filled up. As fast as a new house is completed there are twenty applications for it. Many people have erected dwelling houses on the rear end of their lots, yet that does not fill the demand. It is a safe bet that if there were forty empty houses in the town today every one could be rented within sixty hours, or maybe less time. There is plenty of money in this town and houses could be built if an interest was once awakened along this line of enterprise.

BASEBALL

Four no-hit no-run games were pitched in the big leagues—three in the American and one in the National. The pitchers who performed these brilliant feats were Leonard of the Red Sox, against St. Louis; Foster of the Red Sox, against Washington; Bush of the Athletics, against Cleveland, and Hughes of the Braves, against Pittsburgh.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, the great pitcher of the Phillies, set up a new "whitewash" record by pitching 16 shutout games. The old mark was 133, held by Mathewson.

Zach Wheat, of the Brooklyn Robins, made one or more safe hits in 29 consecutive games. In the 29 games he poked a total of 45 safeties.

The New York Giants won 26 consecutive games and in doing so shattered the long-standing record of 20 straight made by Providence in 1884.

In losing 20 straight games the Athletics tied the American league record for consecutive defeats. The Mackmen also hung up a new mark for defeats in one season with 117 games in the lost column, against 113 registered by Washington in 1904.

Jimmy Walsh and Meldon Wyckoff, traded by the Athletics to the Red Sox, were the only pastimers to leap from a tail-end outfit to the world's champions.

The "iron man" stunt of pitching and winning two games in one afternoon, was performed by four big league twirlers. They were Davenport, of the Browns, pitching against the Yankees; Perritt, of the Giants, against the Phillies; Alexander, of the Phillies, against Cincinnati and Demaree, of the Phillies, pitching against the Pirates.

Outfielder Eddie Mensor, the former Pirate, playing this year with the Spokane Northwestern league team, took part in 114 games and handled 239 chances without an error.

Kenzie Kirkman, outfielder of the St. Joseph team of the Western league made 32 hits in 39 times at bat. Ty Cobb, in 1913, set a record of 31 hits in 39 times up.

The St. Louis Browns won 14 games in a row, the best performance in the American league this season for consecutive games won.

One of the "big thrillers" of the season was staged in Boston August 17, when the White Sox took the club at the hands of the Red Sox 5 to 4 in 16 innings.

Every club in the American league, with the exception of the Athletics led the race for at least one day. Cleveland, New York, Boston and Washington were up there most of the time, while the others enjoyed the privilege for shorter periods including ties.

Walter Pipp, first baseman of the New York Yankees, poled out eleven home runs during the season.

After leading the American league batsmen for nine years in succession Ty Cobb lost the batting championship to Tris Speaker.

On Aug. 14 the Waco and Galveston teams of the Texas league battled for 20 innings, Waco putting over three runs in the twentieth and landing the game by a score of 4 to 1.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter the acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is non-toxic, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys, and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

Originally the annual sessions are devoted wholly to routine business, but the present meeting is expected to give added importance to the discussion of certain subjects of ordinary importance. Richest Young Woman of Smart Set of Washington Marries

Margaret Peeston Draper Now Bride of Prince Andrea Boncompagni of Italy

Washington, Oct. 25.—Miss Margaret Peeston Draper, known as the richest young woman in Washington society, is now the bride of Prince Andrea Boncompagni, scion of one of Italy's oldest and most distinguished families. The marriage which links another great American fortune to an old-world title was performed in the home of the bride's mother at noon today in the presence of a notable gathering of foreign diplomats, cabinet ministers, representatives of the exclusive Supreme Court circle, high officials of the Army and Navy members of Congress and the cream of Washington society.

Crowds began to gather in front of the Draper mansion in K street at an early hour, and the services of a number of priests were brought into requisition to keep the sidewalks and the roadway clear. Up to 11 o'clock there was nothing to reward the patience of the crowd which by this time lined the opposite sidewalk and a portion of the roadway for an entire block on either side of the Draper residence.

One of the first arrivals was Cardinal Gibbons who was accompanied by two priests and a lay brother. Then in rapid succession rode up the handsome equipages and motor cars with the invited guests. These were mostly close personal friends of the bride and family, who are among the foremost leaders of society in the capital. The members of the foreign diplomatic corps were numerous but the official representatives of the countries with which Italy is at war were not noticeable by the irascible.

At a quarter of 12 the guests assembled in the great tapestried ballroom of the Draper mansion. There were probably two hundred guests in all. The improvised altar, which had been erected at one end of the ballroom in white and gold, the scores of tall lighted candles in golden stands reflecting with gorgeous effect upon the golden embroidery. On and about the altar were tall golden stands filled with clusters of flowers. The mantle pieces and recesses of the great hall were also banked with bridal roses and other blossoms in bewildering confusion.

Promptly on the stroke of 12 Cardinal Gibbons and his co-officiars entered the ballroom and took up their positions on the right and left of the altar. A moment later a string orchestra stationed at the opposite end of the room burst forth in a soft sweet melody, and the bridal party were heard ascending the stairs.

"MAID TO ORDER"

The beach scene in the Comedy-Musical production "Maid to Order" which comes to the Opera House on Monday evening is said to be one of the most natural pictures of the sands and the ocean ever put upon the stage. It is in this scene that Miss Dorothy Douglas the vivacious Prima Donna is featured with the production, wears what is said to be the last word in fashionable bathing costumes. The entire scenery for "Maid to Order" was painted by Dodge and Castle who are among the leading scenic artists of New York, and it is said that nothing better has ever come from their studio. From what we are led to believe "Maid to Order" as a stage production is one of the very best that has ever left New York City and that the fun and enthusiasm of the comedy and the music has not been equalled for a long, long time. Seats on sale Friday.

ON THE SCREEN

BELOVED VAGABOND

When Gaston De Nercac was awarded the highest honor the French Academy can bestow on an architect he returned to England, there to arrange the details of his marriage to his cousin, Joanna Rushworth.

To save Joanna's father from financial ruin, Gaston borrows a sum of money from another of Joanna's admirers, the stipulation being that he shall not communicate in any way with Joanna for two years. The scheming lender leads Joanna to believe that her love has been bartered for dollars.

She marries him, and Gaston, believing the one perfect creature in the world to have been fickle, gives up everything he holds dearest—art, friends and future—and, assuming the name of Paragot, goes forth into the world a cynic, to bury with the past all his hopes for the future.

Follows a period of abstinence and recklessness, until he meets Augustus Smith, a lad of fifteen, to whom he takes a liking, because, forsooth, the boy reads "Paradise Lost" and together they start on a vagabond wandering in which many strange things come to pass.

He meets Joanna once more. But years have separated these two, and they find, after their formal engagement, that it's no go. Paragot goes forth broken hearted, only to realize, when he gets home, a certain something that startled him—for he finds in a cottage that which he lost in a mansion.

"CASEY" IN THE MOVIES

Along about the time that Nat Goodwin was married, for the first time and Roosevelt was in the legislature, and Tweed was in jail, along about that time De Wolf Hopper began reciting the touching, beautiful poem, "Casey at the Bat."

According to the records, Hopper has repeated the thrilling lines no less than 2000 times and responded to 11,000 encores. He has recited "Casey at the Bat," and sung it and now he appears in it as a screen play called "Casey at the Bat."

As a movie, "Casey" is full of romance, three baggers, conspiracy, slides to second, love, catches mits, betting, pitcher's signals and overalls. As the world knows and for years has deeply regretted, Casey goes to bat at the crucial period of the final game to save the day and the game and everything else, and strikes out Hopper as Casey does it too in the film. This incident possibly the saddest scene ever portrayed in motion pictures, shows the crushed and defeated Casey after striking out leaving Mudville forever. The picture will be shown at the Opera House on Friday evening.

An auto chemical truck will save its cost in many a single fire when the elimination of the water drainage is taken into consideration.

PEG O' MY HEART

Oliver Morosco producer and J. Hartley Manners, author of "Peg O' My Heart" on of the most phenomenal successes of the present day which is announced for re-appearance at the Opera House Tomorrow evening are reaping another golden harvest from the wonderful success of this play this season, after dividing the profits of nearly a half a million dollars which this attraction netted last year. This wholesome play has caught the fancy of playgoers wherever it has been produced, as its humor and love interest are so compelling that it holds the attention of the auditor from the beginning to the final fall of the curtain, while its characters present types that are wholly appealing to our human instincts. For those who like plays which excite the emotions from laughter to eye mistiness, they will find just what they want in this truthful comedy "Peg O' My Heart" which we are sure will prove the most entertaining of all the attractions witnessed here this season.
